

Disasters Know No Borders: Using Trans-Border Plans as a Tool for Risk Reduction

Jane E. Rovins, Ph.D., CEM, FPEM
Associate Professor, American Military University
President, Natural Hazard Mitigation Association

Trans-Border

 What are borders?

Risk Reduction Plans

- Levels of plan
- Players
- Hazard and vulnerability
- Strategy
- Projects
- Logistics

Local Mitigation Strategies

- Disaster Mitigation Act of 2000
- Components
- Study

Mitigation Plan Influence on Post-Disaster Expenditures

ASEAN Regional Forum

Work Plan for Disaster Relief

■ Context

■ Objectives

■ Framework

■ Leadership, Mgmt
& Funding

■ Other Efforts

■ Timeline

■ Priority Areas

■ Scope

■ Lead Countries

■ Proposed Projects

■ Past ASEAN/ARF
Work

■ Relevant Outside
Efforts

■ Project Types

Work Plan for Disaster Relief

Tier 1

-  Disaster Risk and Vulnerability Identification, Reduction and Prevention
-  Improving Government Emergency Response, Relief and Early Recovery
-  Capacity Identification and Improving Coordination of Capacity-Building Efforts in Asia

WPDR

Tier 2

-  Regional Risk Mapping, Monitoring and Early Warning
-  Disaster Rehabilitation and Reconstruction

Tier 3

-  Private-public partnerships in disaster mitigation, preparedness, and response, and NGOs.

Closer Look at Tier 1

- Community Preparedness Training
- Training Students in Preparedness and Mitigation/Risk Reduction
- Contingency Planning
- Disaster Mitigation/Risk Reduction Training
- Risk Reduction During Reconstruction Training

Sample Project

- Capacity building of Local Government Officials on Disaster Management
  - Participants: ASEAN member states
  - Sponsors: Asian Disaster Reduction Center (ADRC) and Japan-ASEAN Integration Fund
  - Date: on-going
  - Location: ASEAN

Towards Resiliency

- Must take into account existing policies and projects
- Must be complementary
- Integration into other initiatives/plans
- “Living” document

Thank you

Jane E. Rovins, PhD, CEM, FPEM
jane.rovins@gmail.com

